COLLEGE CLOSES TO DECIDE FATE OF POULTRY SHOW

Allow Boys to Go Home Early on Account of Scarlet Fever in Town. Greet Announcement with Wild Cheers.

On account of the continued appearance of scarlet fever in town the faculty of Gettysburg College at a meeting this morning decided to close both the college and the preparatory department at noon to-day for the Christmas recess, instead of waiting until next Friday noon. The action, as passed by the faculty this morning, was in the form of the following resolution:

"Whereas, a number of cases of scarlet fever have occurred during the past month in the town of Gettysburg, and two earlier cases among our students, and as several new cases have occurred in the past few days in the town, not among the students resident in the dormitories, and as the Christmas recess is near;

"Resolved, that the Faculty deem it prudent as a precautionary measure to anticipate the regular date of the Christmas recess and therefore announce that the Christmas recess will begin at noon to-day, Dec. 11."

Announcement of the action was made at the noon chapel exercises and was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm imaginable. The students had got some inkling of the outcome of the faculty meeting but were not sure of its extent and it was not until the last words of the resolution were read that they were sure of their extra six days of vacation. A wild shout greeted the closing sentence and for minutes the boys cheered and gave yells.

Most of them left on the afternoon train and the remainder will go to night. Numerous telegrams home asking for quick wires of sufficient funds to pay their carfare brought a ready response from happy parents and there was a joyous exodus.

While the boys were all glad for the affair the early closing will cause the cancellation of many activities in addition to their classroom work. Three dances were announced for next week and one basketball game. The team left this morning for a one day trip, knowing nothing of the impending action.

HARRY G. OHLER

Young School Teacher Died at his Home from Typhoid Fever.

Harry G. Ohler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ohler, died at his home, near Taneytown, Wednesday morning, from typhoid fever, after an illness of about two weeks, aged 19 years, 4 months, and 5 days.

Mr. Ohler was one of the highly regarded young men of the community and his death was a great shock to his many friends, as well as to his immediate family. He was engaged in teaching at Pine Hill school, this being his second year.

Funeral services were held on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Lutheran church, his pastor, Rev. L. B. Hafer, officiating. He was a member not only of the Lutheran church, but of the Sunday School and Christian Endeavor society. He was also vice president of Washington Camp No. 2, P. O. S. of A., and the funeral service of the order was rendered at the cemetery. The bearers were all members of the order.

MRS. JULIA NORBECK

Was an Annual Visitor with Relatives in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Julia Norbeck died at her home at Halethorpe, Maryland, at two o'clock Friday morning. Her maiden name was Miss Julia Wilson and she resided in Carroll County, Maryland. She was an aunt of Mrs. Emily Ramer, Baltimore street, with whom she usually spent several weeks each year.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Children will not Attend on Day of Principal's Funeral.

On account of the funeral of Prof. Burgoon the public schools of town will be closed on Monday. The flags on all the school buildings are at half mast.

The pall bearers at the funeral will be County Superintendent Roth and the five Gettysburg school directors.

Will Hold Meeting at which Citizens of the Town and Residents of the County May Express their Views.

In order to decide the future of the Gettysburg poultry show, a meeting will be held in the Court House as soon as the finances of the present exhibit have been settled and a report can be made. To this meeting all concerned will be welcome, the business men of Gettysburg and other towns in the county, the poultry raisers of this section, and all interested in the matter. It is planned to have Theodore Wittman, of Allentown, the State's expert in poultry matters, present to make an address.

This afternoon Oscar C. Rice, manager of the Gettysburg show, and secretary of the three exhibitions at Biglerville, stated that he believed the receipts of the week would be sufficient to pay all the expenses. The attendance the first three days was good, but light on Friday. To-day there was a decided increase, and when all the avenues of revenue are tallied it is expected that the amount will be sufficient to give a balance on the right side of the ledger.

The show came to a close at four o'clock this afternoon. Two or three of the exhibitors had secured special permission to remove their birds in time to ship them out on the afternoon train, but the show was practically intact up to the time that the doors were finally closed. It was generally declared to have been highly creditable and deserving of general and generous support.

Immediately after the closing, work at dismantling the show was begun in earnest. Practically all the county exhibitors will take their chickens, turkeys, ducks, and pigeons home to-night and few, if any, birds will be left in the building over Sunday. By Monday night the place will be entirely cleared and cleaned.

The fronts and divisions of the coops will be sent to Carlisle on Monday for the show there next week, the poultry association of that town having rented this equipment from the local management. The rest of the lumber was nearly all rented and will be returned to the owners.

To those who worked so earnestly and so long for the exhibit the greatest credit is due, while they are also deserving of the most hearty congratulations and thanks of the town and county.

WELL ATTENDED

Teachers, Directors, and Patrons Present at this Session.

A successful educational meeting was held Friday evening at Mt. Hope school, Hamiltonban township. The school room was crowded and many, unable to gain entrance, stood on the porch. Miss Goldie Orner, the teacher, had arranged an enjoyable program and there were included a recitation, by Miss Luella Rock, of Fairfield, and singing by the Fairfield High School.

School problems were discussed by Prof. Landis, Miss Gladys Metz, and Wilson Hummelbaugh. In addition to the teachers mentioned, Miss Goldie Currens, and Miss Gifford Hummelbaugh were present, together with three directors, O. B. Lightner, William Watson, and Joseph Musselman. The singing of "America" brought the meeting to a close.

JOINT MEETING

The members of the Mary Shick W. C. T. U. and members of the Young People's Branch are cordially invited to unite with the St. Courageous W. C. T. HAPPY CHILDREN DRESSED LIKE CIGAR INDIAN AT THIS BANQUET

Profusion of Flowers, Bountiful Supply of Good Things, Birthday Cake, and Music the Features.

Amid a thousand carnations, mammoth in size and beautiful in color, two hundred happy people, most of them little girls and boys, sat down to a bountiful supper in St. James Social Rooms Friday evening, the guests of William Grecht, of Baltimore, former resident of Gettysburg, friend of the church, and lover of children.

The scene which confronted Mr. Grecht was not a new one to him. Many times in Germany, the land of his fathers, he has provided a similar feast for the children of the town where many of his ancestors formerly lived. This year circumstances do not make a trip to that country safe or pleasant and he has stayed at home. The school he attended as a little boy in Civil War times attracted him again, as it has many times before, and he determined to show those whom he calls his "fellow classmates" that he has not forgotten the days when, as a little edger, he got much of his early religious training in the department where so many young people of Gettysburg have listened to earnest, sincere, and capable instructors.

Friday evening's supper was one of the most unusual and one of the most delightful events the town has ever had within its borders. Gathering the daintily dressed youngsters about him in the Sunday School room of the church, Mr. Grecht told them in words that they could all understand of the days when he was their age, of how he attended the same school, and how he always felt as though he was one of them. He told them how he had heard of their "bee hive" in which each pupil on his or her birthday dropped a penny for each day of his age.

Mr. Grecht said he had not known about this until recently and that he therefore owed his share, too. He computed what this would have amounted to since 1864 if each year he had dropped in his pennies and the interest had been computed at four per cent, and arrived at a total of $35.50 which he turned over to Miss Annie Wolf for the school at the close of his talk.

The little ones sang for him, gave a few recitations, and then all marched down to the social rooms as the St. James Orchestra played a stirring march. Every guest was given a carnation and fifty dozen of the beautiful flowers were tastefully arranged on the tables. An elaborate supper beginning with the blue points and closing with ice cream and cake, was served by the ladies of the church.

Near its close all the lights of the room were suddenly turned out but darkness lasted only a moment, for a huge birthday cake, illuminated with sixty two lighted candles, one for each year of Mr. Grecht's age, was borne into the room and given to him, Javius Plank making a pretty little presentation speech. He responded in happy fashion and then gave to each little girl and to each little boy a box of candy and an orange as a parting gift to them.

The evening then came to a close, a complete success in every detail and one that should always live in the mind of Mr. Grecht as a most happy memory.

Other guests at the supper beside the children, were members of the families of town which settled here at the same time Mr. Grecht's parents established their homes in Gettysburg, the members of St. James Church council, and representatives of the local papers. To all of them Mr. and Mrs. Grecht were a most hospitable host and hostess.

DRESSED LIKE CIGAR INDIAN

Says Witness in Case Covering Contest of Will. Acted Strangely in Other Ways. Had Large Estate.

William Cohen, whose will disposing of a $100,000 estate is being contested, paraded about the town of Highfield decorated like a cigar-store Indian, with an alarm clock tied about his neck, according to a witness in the suit. Cohen, on the occasion referred to, had various colored feathers for a head-dress instead of a hat and carried a cigar box. His coat and collar were reversed from the ordinary manner of wearing, according to Ralph C. Benschoff, of Highfield.

The will is being attacked by three nieces, who claim that Cohen was mentally incompetent when he drew the will, that it was procured by undue influence and that he did not know what he was signing when he affixed his signature to the paper.

Benschoff, who is employed as engine hostler by the Western Maryland Railway at Highfield, said he had seen Cohen on two occasions in 1910. Cohen later lived at Parkersburg, W. Va., and then went to Baltimore.

"The first time I saw him," Benschoff testified, "he was sitting on a step near the depot with an alarm clock tied around his neck. He was carrying a cigar box with pipes in it and was all decorated up."

"What do you mean by that?" Edgar Allen Poe, who, with Edwin H. Brownley, represents the caveatrices, asked.

"He had his coat buttoned down the back and his collar turned around. He had no hat on; instead, he had feathers stuck in his hair. He was smoking pipe after pipe of tobacco and snuffing the ashes."

This was between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning, Benschoff said. On another occasion, he testified, Cohen came over early in the morning dressed in the same fashion. Asked to specify the kind of head-dress Cohen wore, the witness said they were barnyard feathers.

Cohen, it is also claimed by the plaintiffs, used to wear a grotesque paper cap and beat with sticks on a tin pan he wore hanging from his neck.

The value of the estate in question is estimated variously at from $75,000 to $150,000. Misses Rachel and Rebecca Cohen and Mrs. Rose Resnik, all sisters of Hartford, Conn., are seeking to have the will set aside.

MORE ADVICE FOR FARMERS

State and National Departments Co-Operate in Order to Give Agriculturists Benefit of Experts' Work.

Adams County farmers will be concerned in the announcement that if the plans contemplated by Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton and discussed by the State Commission of Agriculture are worked out, the State and national governments will cover the agricultural districts of the State with more farm advisers next year and work on a system that will prevent duplication of territory.

This will be done by arranging for co-operation with the State College agricultural extension system, which receives federal aid and works with the farm bureaus in various counties. The State has ten farm advisers who are on call and it will be the aim to map out districts so that expert advice will be available for farmers with little delay. Eventually the State will work closer to State College in other agricultural lines.

In a short time the department will issue a bulletin giving a list of farms for sale in the State which, it is expected, will exceed 400. The locations and descriptions of the farms have been received in the last few months in response to an invitation to owners desiring to sell and it is the plan to place the information in the hands of persons desiring to buy, of whom quite a number have written to the department, some of them desiring to start small market farms.

BOY-ED RECALLED, VON PAPEN ALSO

Berlin Accedes to Washington's Request.

ACTION SUITS THE KAISER

Emperor Handled the Case Personally and is Satisfied With America's Procedure—Safe Conduct is Asked.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, informed Secretary of State Lansing that Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen, naval and military attaches, respectively, of the embassy, had been recalled in accordance with the request of the United States. He asked that safe conduct be obtained for the officers.

The ambassador said the American reply to Germany's request for the reasons for asking the recalls had been satisfactory. After leaving Mr. Lansing the count refused to make any statement.

It was made plain that the recall of the attaches was perfectly satisfactory to Emperor William, who handled the case personally.

Mr. Lansing will immediately make application to the British and French embassies for safe conduct for the two attaches recalled.

He stated that when Germany appoints successors to the two officers this government will also ask safe conduct for them to reach this country.

At the British embassy it was said that the secretary's request would be communicated to the British foreign office.

Cancellation of the exequatur of Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul general in New York, and a demand that he leave the country or face criminal charges, will be the answer of the United States to the request of the Austrian charge d'affaires that the department of justice withdraw its assertion that von Nuber plotted to destroy American munition plants.

It is understood this action would have been taken before, except that President Wilson did not desire to enter an additional controversy with Austria-Hungary until the Ancona demand had been considered at Vienna. It is reported that at least three other Austrian consular representatives may be ousted.

President Wilson will go over the case with Secretary of State Lansing and Attorney General Gregory. Mr. Lansing refused to say what attitude he has taken on the contention raised in Austrian sources that the activity of Austrian representatives had been under the direct direction of Ambassador Dumba, and that since he had been withdrawn this government should drop proceedings against other officials.

It was learned that President Wilson has refused to accept such a viewpoint. The attitude of the administration, officials say, is that the New York consul general and the unnamed additional officials have flagrantly violated the hospitality of the United States, have unlawfully conspired against its peace and its industries, and that their usefulness as consular officials is at an end. If the advice of the department of justice is accepted, an effort will be made to prosecute at least three of them criminally.

BILLS FOR U. S. ARMOR PLANT

Wants Government to Manufacture All War Munitions.
Washington, Dec. 11.—Bills for an $11,000,000 government armor plate factory were introduced in congress by Chairman Tillman, of the senate naval committee, and Representative Tavenner, of Illinois.

Government manufacture of all war material was proposed by Senator Cummins, of Iowa, in a resolution introduced in the senate. The resolution provides for appointment of a committee of five senators to examine into "the most feasible plan of acquiring or constructing manufacturing plants of sufficient capacity to supply the army and navy with all arms, armament and munitions of war, including ships and their equipment."

Retreat of Anglo-French Reported From Berlin.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—According to information received in military quarters here, the Anglo-French expedition in the Balkans has continued its retreat and has now entirely evacuated Serbian territory.

Bulgars in Greece

London, Dec. 11.—Strong bands of Bulgarian comitadjis (irregulars) have penetrated Greek territory. It was officially stated at the Macedonian headquarters of the French general staff. The irregulars invaded Greece for the purpose of cutting the railway line. The Greek authorities, in agreement with the allies, have adopted necessary measures to frustrate them. What seems to be an intimation that the troops of the entente allies contemplate evacuating Serbian territory, if they have not already done so, is contained in a statement declared in a Reuter despatch from Salonika to have been issued by the French general staff on the Balkan front. The statement is:

"We, the French and British, are retiring for reasons easy to understand. In view of the fact that the Serbian army for the moment is out of the reckoning, our presence in the Balkan territory is no longer necessary. Bulgarian successes amount to an occupation of territory no longer disputed by us. They have invariably suffered checks each time the allied troops assumed the offensive, notwithstanding their numerically superior forces."

BREAK WITH VIENNA POSSIBLE

U. S. Expects Prompt Action on Note to Austria.

DRAGNET INQUIRY PROPOSED

Senator Lodge Presents Resolution Calling for Probe of Bomb Plots, as Well as Attacks on Ships.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Diplomatic relations with Austria-Hungary are in danger of being broken off by the United States, unless the urgent demands of the American note to Vienna for disavowal of the sinking of the steamship Ancona and reparation are complied with.

Investigation of bomb plots and other unneutral acts by citizens of the United States, as well as of the attacks on the Ancona and the steamships Gullflight, Falaba, Lusitania, Arabic, Hesperian and Petrolite was proposed in the senate by Senator Lodge.

The senator's proposal was submitted as an amendment to a resolution by Senator Hoke Smith asking investigation of British interference with neutral trade.

Senator Lodge declared it was far more important that America should extend protection and security to American citizens than to American property.

"American lives are more important than American dollars," said Senator Lodge. "The body of an innocent child, the victim of an unarmored vessel, floating on the waters, is a far more poignant and tragic spectacle than an unsold bale of cotton."

The Lodge resolution would have the committee investigate and report on the law and facts "referred to by the president of the United States in his annual message when he said, referring to certain persons: 'They have formed plots to destroy property, they have entered into conspiracies against the neutrality of the government, they have sought to pry into very confidential transactions of the government in order to serve interests alien to our own.'"

Senator Smith's resolution and Senator Lodge's amendment were referred to the foreign relations committee.

Furthermore, it was stated upon high authority, the United States expects a prompt reply to its communication. Austria's delay in furnishing answers to the questions submitted to Baron Burian, minister of foreign affairs, by American Ambassador Penfield, a few days after the Ancona went down, has not served to ease the situation.

The foreign office did inform Ambassador Penfield it desired more time to answer the inquiry, but American officials are unable clearly to understand why it is impossible for the Austro-Hungarian government to obtain the information desired.

It has been pointed out that if the commander of the submarine which sank the Ancona had taken his vessel out on another cruise, he should have returned to his base long before this time. It was understood officials are certain it has been possible for the Austrian government to communicate with the commander before now.

In official circles it is plain that everything for which the United States took a stand in the crisis with Germany applies to the situation with Austria.

PETROLITE SAFE AT ALGIERS

Captain Reports Submarine Attacked Ship and Seized Her Provisions.

Washington, Dec. 11.—American Consul Mason, at Algiers, cabled the state department that the American oil steamer Petrolite arrived at that port.

"The captain reported that the submarine which had attacked his vessel flew the Austrian flag."

"The captain reports his vessel was attacked nineteen hours out of Alexandria, and that one seaman was wounded by a shell," Consul Mason said. The state department was informed that the Petrolite was allowed to proceed only after her papers had been examined and the provisions aboard her had been seized by the submarine officers.

Three Italian vessels, the Minusapa, the Orata and the Panta, are searching the Mediterranean to determine just what happened to the Ambassador Page, at Rome, reported that the American consul at Tripoli reported on December 6 receipt of an appeal for help, signed "K. O. E." This is the signal of the Communipaw.

BIG GAIN IN STEEL ORDERS

Steel Corporation Reports Unfilled Tonnage for November of 7,189,459.

New York, Dec. 11.—The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation on November 30 totaled 7,189,459 tons, an increase of 1,944,937 tons over October.

"The increase in the unfilled tonnage—1,924,937 tons, was a surprise to the financial district as the figures were well above, in many cases double, all previous estimates."

The figures also mark the greatest increase ever announced by the United States Steel corporation, and the total unfilled tonnage is, with one exception, the largest ever reported. The unfilled tonnage for March, 1912, was 7,168,956.

Just how much of this unfilled tonnage is represented in foreign business is not definitely known outside of the corporation. But it is generally believed that European orders represent a considerable portion.

TRY TO WRECK STEAMER

Ship Beached and 500 Passengers Landed in Lifeboats.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 11.—With 500 passengers on board, an attempt was made to wreck the steamboat Endeavor, of the Dime Line Steamboat company, at Fenton's Beach.

Four-inch hawsers were thrown into the water in such a way that they would foul the propeller and make the boat helpless.

The scheme worked, but the steamboat was beached and the passengers taken off in lifeboats. The steamboat company has offered $200 reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Amazing Grace.

"When Sister Grace Waddles came thro' at de revival," related Aunt Miasma Waters, "she riz up and shouted dat de devil had her by de feet tryin' to haul her down into de pit, but, halleluoyer, a bright angel done had her by de hair o' de head uh-draggin her to glory!"—Kansas City Star.

No Passing Whim.

"Art," says Frank Alvah Parsons, "is not decided by a passing whim or style; it is based on laws that have been understood since the beginning of artistic expression. Its principles may be applied to interior decoration just as well as to painting, sculpture or any other form of artistic expression."

Where the Fault Lay.

"Pardon me," said the drummer, "but somehow your courthousen looks to be in the wrong place?" "Nepel!" replied the landlord of the Petunia tavern. "What makes it look so is that the town is in the wrong place to make the courthousen look in the right place."—Kansas City Star.

Coal Oil Good.

Coal oil is recommended as an excellent cleaning agent. One woman uses a rag moistened with coal oil to clean her stained wood floors, to clean woodwork, porcelain bathtub and stand and also to polish the wall behind the kitchen range.

Some Queer Ones

Spring fashions—black and gray for lack of dyes—will be fine for blonds and widows.

Colored porter, instead of relative, kissed by excited white woman, who fainted when she saw her mistake in Joliet (Ill.) railroad station.

After lying on apples a week, man locked in box car from Herington, Kan., to Kansas City was in such good condition he was sent to jail.

California man killed friend $8,000 on condition he throw four diamond rings into Pacific ocean off Oakland, deed then furnishing the rings.

Seven foot snake that escaped from show and lived six years in Chicago garage ceiling on rats was lured out by crooning of professional charmer.

Boy of six who smokes, one of eight who chews tobacco and girl of nine who dips snuff have been discovered by the United States public health service.

New suit of clothes every week for three months has been bought for fourteen-year-old Harry Connelly of Moultrie, Ga., because he grows so fast. He is six feet five inches, weighs 200, and he's still "going up."

CENTENNIAL TO SPREAD THE HABIT OF SAVING.

Anniversary of Founding of First Savings Bank to Be Observed.

Next year is the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the first savings bank in the United States, and a movement has been inaugurated to observe the centennial by a nation wide campaign for the promotion of thrift among all classes. Preparations have been begun for undertaking the campaign on Jan. 1, and the plan is receiving the support of prominent bankers and public men.

In sixty-two cities of the country, each with a population of more than 25,000, the campaign will be conducted through the local chapters of the American Institute of Banking; in the smaller cities and towns, through banks which are members of the American Bankers' association; in the states, through the secretaries of the State bankers' association. The industrial workers will be reached through the National Civic federation and the immigrants through the national Americanization committee.

Inasmuch as immigrants, as a rule, are accustomed to government savings

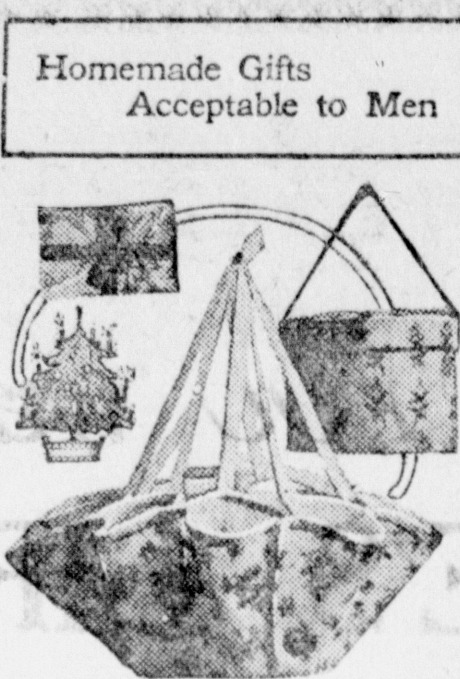

Homemade Gifts Acceptable to Men

SELECTING gifts for one's menfolk is perplexing to the Christmas shopper; their needs are few, compared to those of women and children. Men like gifts that add something to their comfort and they like convenient things. They especially appreciate gifts made by the donor, and this year, there are some novelties for them which are not difficult to make at home.

A basket, which will do either for a den or a bedroom, is made very easily. The materials selected for it depend upon the purposes for which it is to be used. If it is intended for a convenient receptacle for ties, collar buttons, pins, needles, thread and various odds and ends, it is to be made of cretonne, brown linen or figured silk and finished with ribbon. But if for a den to hold pipes, matches, cigars, tobacco, etc., it is to be made of thin leather or heavy silk and finished with silver or gold braid and cord.

A collar box covered with cretonne and suspended by ribbon hangers is a reliable gift sure of a welcome. A round pasteboard box of suitable size is needed over which the covering is stretched and either pasted or sewed.

For small remembrance tokens flat sachets of crepe paper carrying lavender or spicy perfumes in an oblong bit of cotton batting, are tied with narrow strips of ribbons.

back in their own countries and deposit their money here in the United States postal savings institutions, the government officials in the postoffice banks will assist in fostering the foreign element a feeling of confidence in savings banks. The bureau of commercial economics at Washington will supply lectures and motion picture films to be used for thrift meetings.

The Singing of Carols.

The custom of singing carols is still maintained in Italy—indeed, on the continent carolling at Christmas is almost universal—and particularly in Rome, where, during the season of Advent, pifferari may be seen and heard performing their novenas.

These pifferari, who, by the way, are shepherds from the Calabrian mountains, annually flock to Rome at this season. Their picturesque costume is thus described: "On their heads they wear conical felt hats, adorned with a frayed peacock's feather or a faded band of red cords and tassels. Their bodies are clad in red waistcoats, blue jackets and small clothes of skin or yellowish homespun cloth. Skin sandals are bound to their feet with cords that interlace each other up the leg as far as the knee, and over all is worn a long brown or blue cloak, with a short cape buckled closely round the neck. Sometimes, but rarely, this cloak is of a deep red with a scalloped cape."

Good Fellows' Christmas Tree.

The Good Fellows, an organization of men who help to make poor children happy every Christmas, are behind the municipal Christmas tree idea in Columbus, Ind. They will erect a big tree in Commercial park, which is just across Franklin street from the city hall. Christmas carols will be sung around the tree on Christmas eve by the combined church choirs of the city. The other exercises will be held in the city hall, where the poor children of the city will receive presents. Baskets of provisions for the needy adults of Columbus will be distributed also.

Radium as a Fertilizer.

One-seven-hundredth part of a grain of radium will thoroughly fertilize a ton of soil, and cause grain to grow with great rapidity. Where this experiment has been tried it has been noted that all the leaves become very dark. Radishes and carrots raised in this soil grew to six times their usual weight.

E Pluribus Unum.

The Latin phrase, "E Pluribus Unum," means "From Many, One." It is the motto of the United States, as being one nation, though composed of many states. The expression is found originally in a Latin poem entitled "Moretum" supposed to have been written by the poet Virgil.

THE laying hen is the paying hen; all the rest are drones. All that is needed is to put and keep them in good thriving condition. To do this they must thoroughly digest their food, and their bowels must move regularly. Naturally a healthy hen will lay the most eggs. Also any poultry that is strong and healthy gains in weight.

CONGRESSMEN

GROWING MODEST

Few Glowing Accounts Appear
In Autobiographies.

INITIATING NEW MEMBERS.

Those Serving Their First Terms Are Fast Getting Their Bearings and Learning How the Nation's Laws Are Made—Meeting the "Big Men" of the Capital Is Important For Them.

While the veteran members of congress are busy getting their bills in shape for presentation and running the house and senate, the new members are getting their bearings, learning how business is transacted and meeting the "big men" of Washington. There are many things for the new men to learn, and they know that the best thing to do is to make friends with the men who have the "pull" and who can be of untold benefit to them in their work.

There are a great many new members of this congress who first told of themselves in their autobiographies. The book, however, is less interesting this year, as it seems that the people have elected a very modest set of lawmakers.

Senator Henry Algonon du Pont of Delaware again uses the most space in the directory. It requires fifty-six closely printed lines to review the record of the Delaware solon.

Congressman Charles Lindbergh of Minnesota and Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas compete for brevity. Each uses less than one line. Mr. Lindbergh describing himself merely as "Republican of Little Falls," and Mr. Caraway "Democrat of Jonesboro."

Senator James D. Phelan of California qualifies as a member of many clubs and asserts also that he belongs to the Society of California Pioneers and is president of the Hall Association of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

With national defense as an issue in this congress, Congressman P. Davis Coker of Connecticut is one of many members to record that he served with the national guard.

Congressman William Baker Oliver, a new Democrat from Alabama, admits that as prosecuting attorney he "obtained the highest percentage of convictions in the state."

Charles Hiram Randall, prohibitionist of Los Angeles, Cal., calls attention to the fact that a member of the Randall family wrote "Maryland, My Maryland."

Congressman Frank Park of Georgia uses but one more word than Messrs. Lindbergh and Caraway. He names his state as well as town.

Robert M. McCracken, a new member from Iowa, says he went west from Indiana when a lad, "to grow up with the country."

Uncle Joe Elected Twenty Times.

Uncle Joe Cannon's biography is a simple record of his election to twenty congresses and the fact that he is a lawyer.

Harry E. Hull, Republican, of Iowa says he had only ten days to make his campaign to succeed the late Mr. Pepper and that he "made a run that was accepted by the whole country as proof of how the farmers would vote and of the weakness of the Progressive cause."

David H. Kinchloe of Madisonville, Ky., proudly says he is married and "has one girl, now seven and one-half months old."

Whitcomb Hugh Marlin labels himself a "progressive protectionist" from Louisiana and adds that he is the first non-Democratic member to be elected from that state in twenty-five years.

A note of tragedy is contained in the brief autobiography of Congressman Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota, who says he lost his eyesight because of an electric shock in 1907. He has continued in the practice of law. The Sixty-fourth congress has two blind members—Senator Gore of Oklahoma and Mr. Schall.

Edward H. Wason of New Hampshire is one of the many farmers listed in the directory. He asserts that he takes a pride in farming and "has a large herd of registered Guernsey cattle and a modern, up to date farm."

Frederick W. Rowe, a new member from Brooklyn, lists many civic organizations with which he is affiliated and further explains that he is "superintendent of St. Paul's Sunday school."

It appears that Congressman Temple of Pennsylvania, re-elected, is the only minister among the house members. William Barclay Charles of Amsterdam, N. Y., grounds that he is a member of the Second Presbyterian church of that city.

WATER STRAIGHT $1 BARREL.

Fifteen Cents a Bucket Price in New Alaska Town.

As a result of cold weather water is selling at $1 a barrel at Anchorage, a new town established by the government as construction headquarters for the Alaskan railroad. It purchased by the bucket the price is 15 cents or two buckets for a quarter.

Pending the completion of the water system, which the government engineers hope to have working soon, all water for domestic purposes is to be from holes chopped in the ice.

CONSTANTINOPLE

HAS HAD A BOOM

City Has Grown Far Beyond
Walls of Ancient Capital.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS NOTED

Germans Soon to Have Express Trains Running Between Berlin and Turkish City Via Vienna and Sofia—Their Efficiency in Conducting War Strikingly Illustrated.

Nothing better illustrates the German system of conducting the war than the manner in which their railroads are operated. In a couple of days after the fall of Warsaw the Germans had through express trains in operation between Brussels and the Russian city, going through Berlin. Now, since they have opened the way to Turkey, the German railroad officials are ready to establish through service between Berlin and Constantinople via Vienna and Sofia. A glance at the map illustrates the magnitude of this achievement, as the distance is approximately 1,200 miles.

Interest in the war is now centered around the Turkish capital and in Greece, and many close observers are of the opinion that the result depends on the outcome in the Balkans. Thus Constantinople is one of the most interesting cities in all Europe at this time.

Constantinople extends far beyond the ancient walled city of the emperors, which only covered the promontory known today as Stamboul. This promontory, bounded on the north by the poetic Golden Horn, which extends into some miles inland, forms perhaps the most magnificent harbor in the world, and on the south by the blue waters of the Marmora, is indeed the most enchanting part of the city, but the present population, estimated at about a million and a quarter, could not be housed within its borders. Facing the eastern side of Stamboul, on the Asiatic shores of the Bosphorus and Marmora, stand the ancient cities of Calcedon (Kadikewy) and Chrysopolis (Scutari). These now form part of Constantinople. Across the Golden Horn to the north, up the slopes of the hill crowned by Galata tower, built by the Genoese, houses upon houses are so crowded together that, looked at from the sea, it would seem as though there were no streets to separate them.

Many Villages on Shores.

The shores of the Bosphorus are strewn with villages, some insignificant, some fairly considerable, all of them part of the city. To the west beyond the Leven towers and the magnificent marble gate through which the emperors rode in splendor, numerous other villages have sprung up, and to day Constantinople may be said to extend to a length of some twenty miles. The coast running south from Kadikewy and the Princes Islands is also included in the city, so that in width, too, there is a very great difference since the days of the Turkish conquest.

Constantinople founded his capital in 325, and for 1,100 years it was a Christian city. Walking the narrow streets today one comes across here a mosque which was once a Christian church, there a Greek inscription, here a column with beautiful capital, there the foundation of a once gleaming bronze column. But most wonderful of all stands that noble edifice, the church, now mosque, of St. Sophia. Built on the top of the first hill, immediately behind the site of the emperor's palace, it dominates the city. Its dome, outlined against the horizon, catches the eye from every point of view.

What has St. Sophia not seen? The crowning of emperors with all the pomp and ceremony, empresses riding in state into the spacious ladies' gallery, quarrels, intrigues and, lastly, a conquered emperor fleeing to it for refuge from the invading Turk. All these form a succession of events whose narrative holds one in spell. The conquering Turk did not in any way lessen the romance of the life in the city, and today the charm is still there. Who, having once threaded his way through the fascinating bazaars, does not picture again the quaint shops with venders sitting cross legged on the floor, the curious old arches, the oriental crowds in their gay colors?

Since the revolution and counter-revolution of 1909 much has been done to improve the general aspect of the city, and also to facilitate communication. A splendid new bridge has been thrown across the Golden Horn, streets have been widened and paved, electric trams have taken the place of horse trams, public parks have been opened in various parts of the city, the Turkish postoffice has been re-organized, and last, but not least, a telephone system has been established.

The Turk is polite to a fault. He is often shocked by the brusqueness of the westerner. His sense of humor is large. His inimitable way of story telling is proverbial. Those who have known him intimately have found him a generous host, a kindly neighbor and a good comrade, but as a ruler quite incapable of falling in with modern methods.

In "Christmas Town"

How the Day Is Celebrated in Bethlehem, Pa.

"CHRISTMAS TOWN" IS IN ITS GLORY ON CHRISTMAS.

Christmas town is the quaint old village in Pennsylvania which was named Bethlehem 174 years ago by Count Zinzendorf, head and founder of the Moravian faith.

The count arrived in the settlement on Dec. 24, 1741. That evening he took a lighted candle and entered the stable belonging to the single tiny stone dwelling of the place, and then and there, with the smell of the hay about him, he named the town that was to be Bethlehem—"Nicht Jerusalem, sondern Bethlehem" ("not Jerusalem, but Bethlehem").

Every Christmas eve since then has had its "vigil."

Every Moravian home has its Christmas tree, flanked by "putzen." A putz is a beautiful bit of indoor landscape gardening, with fuzzy white cotton for snow and always a tiny stable of Bethlehem, with a doll Christ in a six inch manger, and doll Joseph, Mary and wise men standing by, while a tinzel star of the east shines with undiminished glory.

Three weeks on the afternoon of Dec. 21 last, every Moravian family in the great stone church, built in 1806. All the babies are there, hundreds of babies, wide eyed in admiration of the decorations. The vestibule is full of baby carriages. The pulpit and reading desk are concealed by a big picture of the Nativity.

Classical music of the utmost beauty is sung at the love feast service. It is special Moravian music, often sung from manuscript scores over a hundred years old, which when not in use are kept in the great archive vaults of the church. Pools out the great chorus, thinking the infant Jesus for his benefactions.

Then the "dinner," or sacrament, men and women enter the great front doors. The men carry huge trays of steaming cups of coffee, the white capped women on delicious Moravian buns, those wonderful buns prepared by three generations of hereditary Moravian bakers.

Dinner at 5 o'clock over, the men, women and larger children return at 6 for the "vigil." The church is ablaze with lights, crowded to overflowing. There is a choir of about sixty, married women wearing pink ribbons in their caps, the unmarried girls blue.

There is the famous Moravian trombone choir, with a full string orchestra and the skillful organist at the organ. And the children do their share of the singing. Again each person in the audience, young or old, receives a lighted candle in memory of the one borne by Count Zinzendorf so many years ago. Even the choir members hold tapers as they sing.

The Christ Child.

Oh, the beauty of the Christ Child,
The gentleness, the grace,
The smiling, loving tenderness,
The infantile embrace!
All babyhood he holdeth,
All motherhood he holdeth,
Yet who hath seen his face?

Oh, the nearness of the Christ Child
When for a sacred space
He poseth in our very homes,
Light of the human race!
We know him and we love him,
No man to us need prove him,
Yet who hath seen his face?

SEES U. S. AS PEACE FACTOR

Wilson Says Patched Up Truce
Is Improbable.

"MEXICO FOR MEXICANS"

Declares as Long as He Was President Southern Republic Could Choose Its Own Government.

Columbus, O., Dec. 11.—President Wilson, addressing the chamber of commerce here, declared that if the United States preserves its self-possession in the present crisis it will have great influence in reconstructing the peaceful course of the world and in bringing the nations together again.

He asked business preparedness to mobilize the resources of the nation for defense.

The address was applauded by a non-partisan audience of 1100 men, including many of the leading official and business men of Ohio.

The president, amid great applause, said he believed that when the present war is over the people of the world will demand guarantees that peace shall remain.

The European war, he said, had put the United States in a new relation to the world. This nation will have to be the reserve force of the world, he asserted.

"It is imperative, therefore," he continued, "that no obstacle shall be put in the way of American business. For America now may make peaceful conquest of the world, and I say that with all the greater confidence, gentlemen, because I believe, and hope that the belief does not spring merely from the hope, that when the present great conflict in Europe is over the world is going to wear a different aspect."

"I do not believe that there is going to be any patched-up peace. I believe that thoughtful men of every country and of every sort will insist that when we get peace again, we shall have guarantees that it will remain and that the instrumentalities of justice will be exalted above the instrumentalities of force. I believe that the spirit, which has hitherto reigned in the hearts of Americans and in like people everywhere in the world will assert itself, once for all, in all international affairs, and that if America preserves her peace, preserves her self-possession, preserves her attitude of friendliness toward all the world, she may have the privilege, whether in one form or another, of being the mediating influence by which these things may be induced."

Repeating the idea expressed in his last message to congress, the president said he believed in liberty of all peoples. He declared aggressively that as long as he was president Mexico would be allowed to choose its own government.

"I would not intrust the economic progress of the nation to a few trustees," said the president.

When preparedness by business men to mobilize the resources of the nation as a measure of national defense was urged by the president his words were given added significance by the disputes pending between the United States and Austria and Germany.

The need of ships to carry the commerce of the nation was dwelt on. Since the war of 1812, he said, the United States has purposely attended first to internal affairs. Some business men, he declared, sought foreign trade, but many disregarded it.

He criticized the policy of protection. Business, he said, should be efficient but it should not be organized in order to secure monopolies.

"I, for my part," he said, "look forward to the future of American business with confidence because it has changed its point of view."

He opposed the injection of politics into business. He described himself as a "flourishing Democrat," and added that the Democratic party wanted to help business.

MAN TORTURED TO DEATH

Manic Hanged Victim and Slashes
Him With Knives.

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 11.—All the horrors that insanity could devise were exercised at Chocoma Centre in the murder of an unidentified man by James Brown, a former inmate of the Binghamton hospital for the insane. Brown firmly secured his victim and then strung him up to a tree with a strap buckled about his neck. With a knife in each hand, the maniac then slashed at the victim until he was dead.

YOUTHS HOLD UP TAVERN

Go Through Pockets of All, But Are Soon Arrested.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dec. 11.—Alfred Doty, twenty years old, and Paul Doty, sixteen, his brother, armed with two revolvers each and their faces masked with red handkerchiefs, entered Red Tavern, in Hanover township, and held up the proprietor and guests in real wild west fashion.

As they came through the doors of the barroom, Thomas Wheatley, the proprietor, and six guests were inclined to treat their "hands up" command as a joke, but the "bandits" showed they were not lacking in nerve, and quickly went through the pockets of the crowd and took all valuables.

After the "bandits" had left, a phone message to the state police brought several troopers to the neighborhood, and the Doty brothers were found on the highway with their guns in their pockets and the loot in bags.

400 HOUSES WERE BURNED AT HOPEWELL

Insurance Men Estimate Loss at $2,000,000.

Hopewell, Va., Dec. 11.—State militia, the police of various cities and the private guards of the Dupont Powder company plant have joined forces to prevent a reign of terror throughout eastern Virginia.

Following the destruction of Hopewell, the powder city, by fire, hundreds of foreigners, bereft of homes and household goods, wandered aimlessly about the country.

Many of the refugees were armed, and militia, police and guards disarmed them as rapidly as they could be apprehended. Scores were arrested on various charges, and the available lockups were full to overflowing.

A meeting of the citizens began efforts to have all new buildings of brick. Three fire insurance men estimated that the total loss was $2,000,000.

Four hundred houses, most of them of wood, constructed in feverish haste to care for the influx of people brought here by activities at the Dupont explosives plant, were licked up by the flames. In the main part of the town of twenty-five thousand persons, hardly a building remained.

According to one account, the fire started in a restaurant when an oil stove toppled from a box in the kitchen. A hotel caught next, and soon the flames, driven by a stiff wind, were eating their way through banks, stores, hotels and dwellings. The only church in the town was one of the first buildings to go.

Thousands of refugees who had stood helpless as their homes and places of business burned, were housed in Petersburg and Richmond. Many of those who saved their household goods stood guard over their effects with repeating rifles.

Half a dozen brand new babies were added to the population of Hopewell during the night. One lusty youngster came into the world in the backroom of a railway construction shop.

Cakes For Hard Times.

To the flour add one teaspoonful of baking powder.

WASHINGTON MOST WASTEFUL

Leads All American Cities In Throwing Away Good Food.

The federal government conducts many kinds of investigations, but Washington was hardly prepared to learn that United States agents had been digging into the garbage dumps of the country.

As a result of this latest inquiry the department of agriculture announces that Washington is the most wasteful city in the United States. Careful examinations of the contents of garbage cans were made with a view to determine what percentage of food products daily thrown away might have been put to wholesome use had housewives of the various cities conducted their establishments more economically.

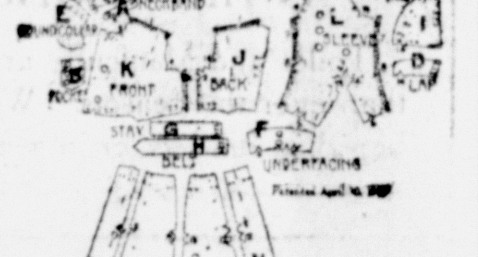

A complete report on the federal government's investigation will be published soon.

The Acme of Proposals

By EDITH V. ROSS

One day Marguerite Phillips was walking in the grounds about her father's stately mansion when she heard something drop. Glancing about her, she saw on the ground a bit of paper fluttering in the wind. Going to it, she found it attached by a string to a stone. Opening the paper, she read:

I am not free to enter your grounds for a near view of your ravishing beauty, but there is nothing to prevent my sailing over you and admiring you from a distance.

Naturally Marguerite turned her gaze upward and saw an aeroplane passing over her head.

She had read many stories of woodwings, but never anything like this. Hunsden had appeared to maidens in the depths of forests to speak their love; sailors had been washed ashore from wrecked vessels to love fisher lassies who had rescued them; fugitives from an enemy had suddenly arisen from the earth before girls to excite play which is akin to love, but never before had Marguerite known a case of woman being wooed from the clouds.

As to her own experience, she had been courted by numerous suitors, but never except in commonplace fashion. In the whole list of her wooings there was not a single new idea for a proposal. It was therefore natural that by this strange method of announcement of a man's love for her she should be much moved. A pleasurable excitement stirred within her, tingling to the tips of her fingers. She followed with her eyes the disappearing aeroplane and pictured a man fit to ride among the clouds looking down upon those who were crawling like worms on the earth.

How godlike seemed this heavenly wanderer compared with any of those who had yet sought her love! Soldiers, sailors, men of wealth, men of intellect, men of genius had been rejected by her, and, though she did not realize the cause of their failure to win her, there was one fundamental reason—none of them had wooed her in a way to strike her imagination. He who had come nearest to success was one with whom she was riding in an automobile. Driving toward a precipice, he swore that if she would not love him both should go down to a frightful death. She yielded, but when safe on terra firma availed herself of a woman's privilege to change her mind.

The aeronaut passed from her sight toward the setting sun, his albatross rocking gracefully, like a bird, between two clouds, at last plunging down behind another, as if going to his home in the blood red orb. Clapping her hands and raising her eyes still higher into the unhorizoned heavens, she exclaimed:

"Was ever a Greek girl more honored by the wooing of a god than I by this daring rover of the ethereal blue?"

Marguerite waited in anxious expectation for the ethereal lover to appear again, or, rather, for his next message, for she had not yet seen him. She sat at her window in the uppermost story of the house gazing skyward, and every time she saw a bird soaring in the far distant heavens she pressed her hand to her heart, exclaiming, "It is he!" When the weather permitted she mounted to the roof, where a bower had been built, and there waited for her eagle lover.

One day while on the roof she saw coming an aeroplane. It flew not more than a hundred feet directly above her, and a bit of paper fluttered down upon the roof. But, alas, she saw not the aerial driver, for until nearly over her head he had kept a high altitude, dropping like a stone and catching himself a moment before the white paper came down like a snowflake in the sunlight. Disappointed in not seeing her lover of the clouds, Marguerite feverishly read her message:

Tell me that you will be mine. If you refuse I will soar higher and higher till I am lost to earth.

Marguerite provided herself with an immense piece of cardboard, laid it flat on the roof and with a brush and a pot of black paint wrote in enormous letters, "Come to me."

A few days later the aeroplane flew over the house, turned and settled down on the roof. Marguerite's heart was in her throat.

Out stepped John Williams, the man she had last refused.

"Marguerite," he said, "when you refused me a year ago you told me that my proposal was the most matter of fact, the most distasteful, that had been spoken or written by all the men you had refused. Loving you madly, I resolved that if this absence of romance was all that separated us I would strive to renew my offer in a manner more suited to your taste. I studied to enable myself to woo you from the clouds. I can do no more; I can rise no higher into the heavens for your sweet sake. Love me, dearest, or I will fly from here and you shall see me sail into the infinite ocean of space never to see me more."

He knelt, took her hand and kissed it. "John," she said, "you are the only man of all my suitors who has made a proposal that dwarfs any of those pictured by the most skillful novelists."

She fell into his arms. "Let our bridal," she whispered, "be as beautiful as your wooing. I will sit beside you in your flight, and above the golden edged cloud we will be made one."

"How about the parson?" asked Mr. Williams.

"The eagle shall marry us." Not finding the eagle, when they came down they called on a justice of the peace.

Must Give as Well as Receive.

A noble nature can alone attract the noble and alone knows how to retain them.
